

ABOUT US

ART & REASON

Initially this site was a virtual art gallery for the works of Jaroslav Seibert. With the creation of The Hollow Cross Collection in 2006, the general gallery was separated and you can find it now via link on the home page or via the friendly links button. The early collaboration and following contributions of Vim Wammer lead to adaptations and updates including in 2007 the synthesis of art and prose formed in the book The Hollow Cross. Later events made us rework the structure and contents to what you currently find. No change was, however, applied to the motive, to promote atheist thought by art, writing and communication on an international level. More material of similar slant or otherwise connected to our activities may be found on the friendly links we propose, which may vary, increase or decrease in number, contents or objectives. We reserve the right to modify this website to adapt it to changing priorities or specific experience.

IMPRINT

Imprint, copyright, and other rights are legally based in Luxembourg, although subject to international Internet rules. Jaroslav Seibert and Vim Wammer assume responsibility for the concept and contents of the website and for their individual contributions and products of any nature.

DISCLAIMER

We do not assume responsibility for contents of links and other contributions, in case they are published on our website. Even if we do not interfere with objections we may disagree partly or totally with individual opinions supplied by this website via links, or referring to it by correspondence of any kind.
